What are the risks and what could I get in return?

The summary risk indicator is a guide to the level of risk of this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that the product will lose money because of movements in the markets or because we are not able to pay you.

In compliance with the provisions of the Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2017/653 of 8 March 2017, this product falls within category 6 out of 7, which is the second highest risk class as per the above regulation. Such category covers products which are priced on a less regular basis than monthly and having no appropriate benchmark or proxy. Potential losses from future performance may therefore likely impact our capacity to pay you.

The risk of the product may however be significantly higher where the product is not held for the recommended holding period and poor market conditions are likely to impact the capacity of this product to pay you.

The product's risks relate to general economic and market conditions, such as credit risk, interest rate, inflation rates, Emerging Market risk, operational risk, economic uncertainty and changes in national and international political circumstances. These factors will affect the level and volatility of asset prices and liquidity of the investments held.

Although the Fund is closed-ended, liquidity risks must be considered given the illiquid nature of the investments made by the Fund and which may, depending on the market situation, either not be liquidated immediately or only be incurring losses. Consequently, Fund investments may represent a low level of liquidity and marketability, which may result in a discount to your investment

This product does not include any protection from future market performance so you could lose some or all of your investment.

If the product is not able to pay you what is owed, you could lose some or all of your investment.

What happens if the Fund is unable to pay out?
